local area

Those who simply can't resist a good beach will be heading south to the buzzing resorts of the Riviera, with its stylish boutiques, glitzy bars and casinos but, for lovers of the finer things in life (and, by finer, we're thinking good wines, excellent patés and cheeses), Provence and the vineyards of the Languedoc are also easily accessible. Behind the ancient ramparts of Avignon lie the magnificent Papal Palace and a network of cobbled streets lined with elegant restaurant terraces and smart gift stores. In July the town is packed out with festival goers, enjoying an atmosphere second to none in the south of France. The great Roman cities of Arles, Nîmes, and Orange are all close by and provide fascinating days out. For nature lovers the Carmargue nature reserve is the place to see the pure white horses and flamingos on the bull raising farms, and dramatic Ardèche gorge is also within easy reach.
